

Play Time with Your Toddler

One way to engage your child in play time is by setting up color sorting bags. This game will help your toddler learn the names of each color. It will also teach them the importance of cleaning up. Here is how to make the game:

1. Cut 5 pieces of different colored construction paper to fit on brown paper bags.
2. Tape the colored construction paper to the outside of the bags.
3. Open up the bags and set them on the ground next to the toy area.
4. Have your toddler put their toys, like blocks, shapes, and letters, into the bag that matches the color of the toy.
5. When your toddler places each toy into a bag, ask them what color the toy is or say “I liked how you put the red toy in the red bag”.
